Цифровая стратегия Гарвардской библиотеки:

- Комплектование фондов
- Доступ к материалам
- Исследовательская и обучающая деятельность.
- Кураторство цифрового контента
- Профессиональный рост сотрудников

Цифровая стратегия Гарвардской библиотеки в области комплектования фондов:

- Разработать широкий и разноплановый набор сетевых цифровых ресурсов для гарвардской аудитории
- Усовершенствовать электронный доступ к материалам, переведенным на цифровые носители
- Усилить поддержку всех этапов процесса приобретения оригинальных цифровых материалов (born-digital), начиная с отбора и заканчивая предоставлением доступа к ним.

To the right of the logo is the text 'DIGITAL ACCESS TO SCHOLARSHIP AT HARVARD' and 'A SERVICE OF THE OFFICE FOR SCHOLARLY COMMUNICATION'. Below this is a navigation bar with five items: 'Browse & Search', 'Deposit Your Work', 'Statistics', 'Stories', and 'About'. The main content area features a red banner with the text 'Your Story Matters' and 'stop slideshow'. Below the banner is a quote: 'Having access to top-level scholarship is critical to my work.' attributed to a 'Science Journalist'. To the right of the quote are four red buttons with white plus signs. Below the quote is the heading 'What is DASH?' followed by the text 'A central, open-access repository of research by members of the Harvard community.' and a red button labeled 'Deposit Your Work' with a small icon. Below this is a paragraph of text explaining DASH's benefits: 'DASH enlarges the audience and impact of your work. Authors who deposit in DASH have access to on-demand metrics and receive monthly reports about their readership. Deposited works receive persistent URLs, are comprehensively indexed by search engines, including Google and Google Scholar, reach academic and non-academic readers who may not have access to the original publications, and are preserved by the Harvard Library.' On the right side of the page is a sidebar with the heading 'MyDASH Statistics' and a world map showing 242 downloading countries. Below the map are four red buttons with white plus signs. The sidebar also has a 'Search' section with 'Keyword Search' and 'Advanced Search' options, a search input field, and a 'Browse' section with 'Communities & Collections', 'Harvard-affiliated Authors', and 'All Authors' options.

Capturing Women's Voices on the Web

Archived Websites

As part of its mission to capture the voices of women whose points of view might not be found elsewhere, as well as to document the use of blogs and other forms of web publishing by American women in the early 21st century, the Schlesinger Library has selected and archived a sample of approximately 20 blogs. These blogs illuminate the lives of African-American and Latina women, lesbians, and women grappling with health and reproductive issues, and typically reflect their engagement with politics, their personal lives and philosophies, and their work lives.

Abigail and Dolley

Abigail and Dolley is an insightful record of the ponderings and opinions of a Modern Woman. Abigail Adams is a wonderfully astute and erudite woman whose political prose was insightful and pithy. Through charm, grace, and a genuine warmth Dolley Madison virtually invented the position of First Lady. This blog seeks to combine the political observations and commentary of Abigail Adams with the genuine womanliness of Dolley Madison. I can only hope to do them justice.

Conrad Sherland's Delightful Salad Dressing

Abigail and Dolley readers my dear friend, Conrad Sherland said to me several weeks back, "The reason most people don't like that they don't have a good dressing for it. I will make you some and you will eat plenty of beautiful salads with fresh greens, veggies, and I promise you will like it." I was very skeptical, I hate salad. Salad means deprivation. Salad means diet. Salad is a trap - most restaurant salads are worse for you than their cheese burgers! So, I dutifully made my "beautiful" salad and low and behold, he was right. I must share, so here goes:

In a blender mix:

- 1 c organic olive oil
- 1/3 c balsamic vinegar

Ce 7 janvier 2015, l'idée fondamentale de la Liberté a vu des hommes mourir en son nom.
Je souhaite que nous continuions de la défendre et ce peu importe le prix à payer. Car si des hommes peuvent tomber en la défendant, l'idée de Liberté ne doit pas tomber dans l'oubli. Les idées peuvent changer les choses. Elles ne sentent pas la douleur. Elles ne saignent pas.
Puisse donc ce jour incarner plus que n'importe quel autre celui de l'idée de la

Cobweb: Collaborative Collection Development for Web Archives

With funding from the Institute of Library and Museum Services (ILMS) and in partnership with UCLA and Harvard University, CDL is developing Cobweb, an open source platform to support collaborative collection development for web archives. Cobweb's core functionality supports digital curators in establishing projects to collect thematically organized web archives, allows for submission of nominations to those projects, tracks claims made by collecting organizations to participate by archiving nominated web resources, and reports on holdings that

Collaborative Architecture, Urbanism, and Sustainability Web Archive (CAUSEWAY)

Archived since: Jun, 2014

Description: The Collaborative Architecture, Urbanism, and Sustainability Web Archive (CAUSEWAY) is a joint initiative by the art and architecture librarians at Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Johns Hopkins, Harvard, Princeton, and Yale universities, and the universities of Chicago and Pennsylvania, under the auspices of the Ivy Plus Libraries partnership. This project aims to preserve websites devoted to the related topics of architecture, urban fabric, community development activism, public space and sustainability in order to guarantee the continuing availability of these important but potentially ephemeral documents for researchers and scholars.

Contemporary Composers Web Archive (CCWA)

Archived since: Oct, 2013

Description: The Contemporary Composers Web Archive (CCWA) is a collection developed by the Ivy Plus Libraries Music Librarians (a collaborative working group including Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Duke, Johns Hopkins, Harvard, MIT, Princeton, and Yale Universities, and the Universities of Chicago and Pennsylvania). The CCWA is an extension of an existing Ivy Plus Libraries Music Librarians collaborative collection development agreement identifying approximately 1,500 globally based contemporary composers of sufficient importance to have their published printed works collected at a comprehensive level by at least one participating institution. The agreement defines “contemporary” composers as: 20th-century composers still active in 1975; works by those composers deceased before 1975 but published for the first time in significant new editions after 1975 (optional among members); and composers active after 1975. The Archive aims to preserve for researchers the personal / official websites belonging to these notable contemporary composers in order to assure the continuing availability of the important, and potentially ephemeral content they contain, such as: biography, bibliography, discography, recordings, writings, lists / notices of performances, audio and video performances, photos, press notices, and more. For additional information about Ivy Plus Libraries or the Contemporary Composers Web Archive, please contact: cwa@library.columbia.edu.
