"Trying to Launch The Indian Digital Rupee Without Addressing The Legalities of Crypto-assets is a Misplaced Approach"

-Dr Pavan Duggal,

Advocate, Supreme Court of India & Chairman, International Commission on Cyber Security Law

"Since Metaverse is the Digital Future, We Need Specific and Special Courts Dedicated to Cybercrime Cases"

Intro: Did you know that India does not have a dedicated cyber security law? Did you know how feasible it is to park your funds in Crypto assets? Are you aware that posting absurd things on social media is legally not Freedom of Speech? Why is that content being shown on OTT which Indian TV channels aren't allowed to be aired? Answers to all these and more on our Socio-Economic Voices Series where this week we have Dr Pavan Duggal, Chairman, International Commission on Cyber Security Law in an exclusive interaction with Senior Journalist Mahima Sharma. Dr Duggal who is also an Advocate with the Supreme Court of India, shares an exclusive 11 point advice for the Central Government to ensure top most priority to cyber security because he asserts that India must eye not only Indian but global investors by ensuring that country as a 'cyber secure digital nation'. But he asserts that Cyber security is a collective responsibility, and not just the job of the governments to assure. Let's now delve deeper into what Dr Duggal has shared exclusively with us including the digital future - the Metaverse - its nuances, opportunities for the youngsters in this field plus the legal challenges. Take a read...

MS: Recently the Home Minister stressed upon the need To Build A 'cyber-secure India' For Country's Development. How can this be achieved at a better pace? Please enlist the essential steps including digital awareness to curb tech handicap, needed among the masses.

About Agra District (Uttar Pradesh)

Out of the 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh state, it is the most well known historical district with its administrative headquarters located at Agra city. For the first time the name of the city Agra was mentioned as Agreva?a in the great epic Mahabharata. The term Agreva?a is a Sanskrit word which means "the border of the forest". The first person who gave Agra its present name was Ptolemy. On the other hand the heritage of the Agra city depicts its glorious history. Legends believe that modern Agra was established by Sikandar Lodhi in the 16th century. Then Babar, the founder of the Mughal dynasty ruled this region as well for a definite period of time. Later during the reign of Emperor Akbar, he built the beautiful Agra fort and Fatehpur Sikri near Agra. At that time Fatehpur Sikri was declared as his capital for almost fifteen years. When Shahjahan came into the throne of Mughal Empire, he worked a lot to beautify the place of Agra. He took up the Mughal architecture to its celestial point, when he constructed the wonderful Taj Mahal in memory of his beloved wife, Mumtaz Mahal. After the downfall of the Mughal era, Agra had witnessed the rule of the Jats, Marathas and finally the British taking over it.
